#ZeroHIVStigmaDay is a joint initiative of IAPAC (a global network of clinicians and allied health professionals working to end the HIV epidemic) and NAZ (a sexual health charity working to address sexual health inequalities in Black, Brown, and marginalized communities) in collaboration with the Global HIV Collaborative and Fast-Track Cities Institute.
HIV STIGMA is a SOCIAL JUSTICE and HUMAN RIGHTS and PUBLIC HEALTH issue.

- Refers to the negative attitudes, beliefs, and discrimination that people living with HIV may experience due to their status.
- Involves the devaluation and labeling of individuals based on certain attributes, leading to social exclusion or marginalization, which can negatively impact the health outcomes for people living with and affected by HIV.
- Involves social disapproval, prejudice, stereotypes associated with HIV, and disproportionately affects marginalized communities and their access HIV prevention, testing, treatment, and care.
- Influences people’s perceptions and beliefs, which leads to discrimination (tangible actions that results in unequal treatment, or denial of rights).
- Stigmas negative impact on individuals and communities, affected by HIV reinforces social injustices and jeopardizes efforts to end the HIV epidemic.
What is ZERO HIV DAY?

A global movement uniting people and communities to raise awareness of HIV and take action to eliminate HIV STIGMA in all its forms.

- A day of action featuring communities living with and affected by HIV, activists, clinicians, influencers, high-profile individuals, and civil society organizations.

  - Human First is the 2023 campaign theme meant to emphasize the Human First dimension of people living with and affected by HIV, because we are all Human First.

  - We must collectively work to eliminate HIV STIGMA and end the HIV epidemic.

Prudence set a precedent to encourage other women with HIV to discuss their status with loved ones, to live without shame, to seek treatment, and to lead happy and fulfilled lives.

We chose Prudence’s birthday to honor her work and tireless activism to end HIV stigma.

“I THINK MORE THAN ANYTHING, WE HAVE TALKED, WE HAVE DONE EVERYTHING. NOW IT IS TIME FOR US TO STOP ALL OF THAT FOR A LITTLE BIT AND ACTION.”

KEY MESSAGES

#ZEROHIVSTIGMADAY
HIV stigma involves the devaluation and labeling of individuals based on certain attributes, leading to social exclusion or marginalization.

HIV stigma influences people’s perceptions and beliefs, which leads to discrimination (tangible actions that result in unequal treatment or denial of rights).

HIV stigma can manifest as institutional, intersectional, and self-inflicted (personal) ways.

Both HIV stigma and discrimination have detrimental impacts on individuals and communities affected by HIV, by reinforcing social injustices and hindering access to prevention, testing, care, support, and other necessary resources.

HIV stigma refers to the negative attitudes, beliefs, and discrimination that people living with and affected by HIV may experience due to their HIV status. It involves social disapproval, prejudice, marginalization, and stereotypes associated with HIV.
KEY MESSAGE #2

- People living with and affected by HIV often face stigma, which takes different forms including self-inflicted, interpersonal, institutional, and societal stigma, which creates multiple barriers to achieving positive health outcomes.

- HIV stigma is intersectional - age, race, gender identity, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status - meaning the impact is more deeply felt by marginalized communities.

- HIV stigma is a violation of human rights. It causes stigmatizing attitudes fueled by misinformation, fear and prejudices. For many, HIV stigma curtails the ability of people living with HIV to access life-saving HIV prevention and treatment services.

HIV stigma costs lives

HIV stigma is fueled by misperception and causes personal and public detriment including social exclusion, loss of employment, housing insecurity, health inequities, and strained relationships. HIV stigma creates a barrier to prevention, treatment, and care.
KEY MESSAGE #3

By eliminating HIV stigma, we will:

- Realize the right to dignity, health, and wellbeing for all people affected by HIV, including improving their quality of life.
- Reduce fear of disclosure and social isolation, and allow people to live more openly and as their authentic selves.
- Drive demand for HIV testing, leading to earlier diagnosis, and timely access to HIV treatment, care, social services leading to U=U.
- Enable open conversations about HIV, promoting accurate information about transmission and prevention, and encouraging individuals to adopt preventive measures such as PrEP, and harm reduction strategies.
- Drive equity in access to healthcare, prevention, and treatment for all individuals, regardless of their HIV status.

END HIV STIGMA NOW!

The end of AIDS as a public health threat is near if we collectively take action to educate about prevention, treatment, care while shifting perception to end HIV stigma. We have the tools and we must collectively work to create a world that supports people living with and affected by HIV that fosters community resilience and empowerment.
